Treasure Hunt Friday - Saturday

A gigantic "treasure hunt" will take place down town tomorrow and Saturday.

Over 5,000 residents have been receiving special keys this week - keys which may unlock a treasure chest in one of the many downtown stores.

The Andover Board of Trade is sponsoring the Friday-Saturday sale and treasure hunt.

Anyone having a key is invited to try their luck in opening the treasure chest in one or more of the participating stores. Additionally, one key for every $1 purchase will be given to shoppers during the two days. These keys may also be tried in any of the stores taking part.

If the treasure chest is opened, the shopper will then go the "Pirates Cove" - Valentine

WHAT DID A JET RIDE COST 20 YEARS AGO?

A strange question. You couldn't buy a jet ticket at any price 20 years ago.

But the same logic applies to saying, "Prescriptions cost more than they used to." Most of today's drugs weren't available - at any price - 20 years ago. In fact, over three quarters of all prescriptions written today are for drugs less than ten years old.

Barn Fire Unearths Mystery Over Fate Of Original Town Fire Station

EARTHQUAKE CAUSES NO DAMAGE HERE

A minor earthquake - recorded as having originated in the Cape Cod area - rumbled in Andover late Wednesday morning.

Houses shook slightly, but there was no recorded evidence of damage from the tremor.

Police said they had only one call - from a man claiming his foundation had cracked during the brief quake. At the Townsman office, the tremor seemed to be about twice the duration, and somewhat more noticeable, than a sonic boom.

An old, two-story barn at 78 Maple ave. came within a minute or two of becoming a major conflagration last Sunday, when blazing chicken coops hurled flames up its high, dry sides.

Firefighters responding to the alarm were able to control the fire before it did much damage to the barn, but the coops were destroyed. The fire, instead of doing tremendous damage, actually did some good.

For it brought back into public attention a building that once was well-known throughout the town.

The ancient barn was the combination butcher shop and stable for J. P. Wakefield, who owned and operated stores here around the turn of the century. Some of his old records were even discovered, as firefighters poked through the loft. They were mostly cash accounts, meaningless without the

Families Are Left Homeless

Two families, whose home was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning, are living temporarily with relatives this mid-week.

Their Cuba st. apartments were ruined by flames, smoke and water late Tuesday morning. Relatives, and Andover Chapter, American Red Cross, combined to aid the families.

They are the Raymond L. Hutchings, who occupied the ground-floor apartment at 30-32 Cuba st. and the Cleo Audettes, whose home was on the second floor. The Hutchings have one youngster, the Audettes have three. Fire Chief Henry L. Hilton blamed "careless disposal" for the fire.

The fire obviously started long before it was discovered, at 11:40 a.m. Heat had built up in the structure, finally blowing out a window. And with the fresh supply

Excise Tax Bills Behind Schedule

Excise tax bills are far behind schedule this year, according to Tax Collector James P. Christie. He has received only 3,632 bills from the state, with a gross value of $156,184.

Last year at this time, the tax collector had mailed out 8,300 of the 11,000 bills customarily handled here.

Mr. Christie blames the new processing equipment used for the first time by the state for the delay. Instead of first working out the problems normally found in any new system, he commented, the state has depended entirely upon the equipment to process the excise tax bills.

The total value of excise taxes collected in Andover is estimated at $474,245.07, less whatever abatements are granted.

Although some bills are normally mailed out after the end of the year in which they are due, Mr. Christie expects that many resi-

Evergreens Need Extra Watering

Because of the unusually dry conditions this year, many local homeowners are wondering just what steps they should take to preserve and protect their evergreen plantings without wasting water.

Andover is very fortunate this year to have no worries about the water supply. According to the Public Works office, there are no restrictions whatsoever upon the use of water. In a time when wells and reservoirs to the north and west are almost all dry or very low, many people have been concerned about using water freely.

According to the expert advice of Heinrich Rohrbach of Sunset Rock rd., broadleaf evergreens such as rhododendron, mountain laurel, andromeda and azalea should be well saturated before the ground freezes. This should be accomplished by allowing a slow trickle from the hose to seep into the ground around the roots for 3-4 hours. This treatment permits the water to be absorbed and not wasted. Most native shrubs which are ordinarily hardy must not be allowed to go into the winter season dry. Vegetable matter, like our own bodies, is nearly 90% water; water in sufficient quantities is essential to all living things. In the case of shrubs and trees, being too dry will kill more surely than simply the severity of the cold.

Mr. Rohrbach will speak on "The care of gardens in the fall", Monday, Nov. 4, on the Farm and Garden Hour on a Boston televi-

Calendar Voted Fiscal, Political

The calendar for fiscal and political activities in the town for the remainder of the year, and into 1964, has been set by the Selectmen.

They have designated March 7, at 9:30 a.m., for the annual town meeting. Elections will be held March 2. The warrant will close at 4:30 Jan. 10, 1964.

Of immediate interest are the schedules for budget preparation:

Department heads will be preparing work programs and budget estimates until Nov. 1; during the same period, the accountant and manager are reviewing revenue estimates and figures from prior years.

Early in November, final revenue estimates will be prepared and requests from all departments will be summarized.

Between Nov. 8 and 20, department heads and the town manager will be reviewing the requests and preparing final recommendations.

The budget will be prepared in final form for presentation to the Selectmen Dec. 1. That board will review the document until the first of the year, when final expenditures are available for all departments.

The Finance Committee will get the budget Jan. 15, 1964, for final revision and study.

2-Week Mission*At St. Augustine's

The Rev. James G. Sherman, O.S.A., and the Rev. Edward J. Daley, O.S.A., will conduct a two weeks' Mission, at St. Augustine's Church, commencing Sunday, Oct. 27, and ending Sunday, Nov. 10.

The first week will be for women and the second week for men. A Mission is intended to provide Catholics with an opportunity for a check-up on their spiritual lives. If a periodical check-up is good and necessary for bodily health, is likewise good and necessary for our spiritual health, according to church officials.

"Besides helping those who are conscientiously trying to live good lives, it can help to bring back those who have strayed away from God and Religion," they continue. Non-Catholics who wish to attend the Mission are welcome to do so.

Poem On Prayer Read At Sanborn PTA Meeting

At a recent meeting of the Sanborn School PTA, Principal Joseph Normandy read the following poem, concerning school prayers:

"Prayer on the Q.T."

Now I sit me down in school
Where praying is against the rule.
For this great nation, under God
Finds public mention of Him odd.
Any prayer a class recites
Now violates the Bill of Rights.
Any time my head I bow
Becomes a Federal matter now.
Teach us of stars or pole and equator
But make no mention of their Creator.
Tell of exports in Denmark and Sweden
But not one word on what Eve did in Eden.
The law is specific, the law is precise
Praying out loud is no longer nice.
Praying aloud in a public hall
Upsets believers in nothing at all.
In silence alone can we meditate
And if God should get the credit, great.
This rule, however, has a gimmick in it:
You've got to be finished in less than a minute.
So all I ask is a minute of quiet
If I feel like praying, then maybe I'll try it.
If not, O Lord, this plea I make:
Should I die in school, my soul you'll take.

Luedke In Hospital After Collision

The condition of 18-year-old Peter Luedke, 75 Porter rd., remained unchanged at Lawrence General Hospital, following lengthy surgery to repair injuries sustained in an accident last Friday night.

The accident occurred shortly before 8 p.m., as the truck was proceeding across Main st., at Morton st. Luedke was travelling on Main st.

Police Chief David L. Nicoll reported that Mr. Dustin was unaware of any accident, and continued to his home. Witnesses were able to tell police what had happened. There were no marks on the truck indicating the collision, according to Chief Nicoll.

Officers Warren Maddox, Frederick Welch and Henry Giaimo investigated.

The fire department ambulance transported the victim to the hospital. He suffered injuries to the right hip, leg and forearm, and some internal injuries as well.

Chief Hilton and Deputy Chiefs John Cole and Charles Murnane directed firefighting operations.

Brook Project On 1964 Agenda

The second stage of Roper Brook reconstruction will be contained in the 1964-'65 capital expenditures program.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, after consulting state Division Waterways officials, believes the funds may be appropriated in 1964. However, he states that match funds will more certainly be available in 1965 for this second of three stages of construction.

The second stage runs from the west side of Main st. to Whittier st. It is also thought that the portion of the brook passing through the Park may be left open - a change from the original planning. This would result for two reasons, according to Mr. Duff - aesthetic and cost.

He also has pointed out that some extra parking for the shopping area will be provided, when the first stage of the brook construction is finished, within the next six months. The area behind the store on the west side of Main st. will become usable for vehicles, it is noted, as soon as the work is finished.

Celebrating First Year In Existence

It's Happy Birthday for Juhi Hi Camp Fire Girls in Andover who are celebrating the first anniversary of their new "gum up" status.

This special new age group 12 and 13 year-olds started ago with the newly revised and enriched Camp Fire Girls program. During the past 12 months they have had fun doing a variety of things indoors and outdoors: cookouts, overnights, progressive dinner party, baby sitters while mothers voted, making layettes for the needy, teaching games to younger children.

Among Horizon Club girls has great interest has been shown this past year in community service. The projects have included a Child Care Course, taught by Pauline Klempner, R.N.; Home made toys to be donated to hospitals and clinics and a Car Wash 75 Central st.

Camp Fire Girls welcomes girls seven years of age through high school, without regard to religion or economic background.

Discussion Clubs Will Continue

The Discussion Club division of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine at St. Augustine's parish announces that plans are now being made for the formation of discussion club groups.

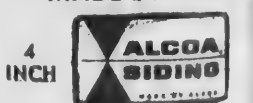

This past year, nine discussion clubs with a total of 83 members have been in operation with tremendous success. The original groups will continue functioning this year. The aim of the discussion clubs is to provide an opportunity for adults to develop a deeper understanding and love of their Catholic Faith. This knowledge and love, in turn, translated into Catholic Action. Everyone in a discussion club is a learner, including the leader.

This division of the CCD is open to all adult members of the parish. Any parishioner who is interested in joining one of these groups, forming their own unit is asked to contact John F. Lyons.

New Service For Students

William J. Igoe, Director of Guidance of the Andover Public Schools, announces a new service available to the interested students and parents of college-bound students.

The new College-Finding Service is intended to aid parents in selecting the college or colleges which meet the students' exact requirements.

Prior to the establishment of this service, parents sometimes invested considerable sums in applying at various colleges - many of which do not fulfill the individuals needs and consequently they received a number of rejections. Too many students are not definite as to their selection of a career or the type of professional school they desire. This is taken into consideration, as well as the temperament of the individual, his potential and, last but not least, the all-important matter of the money available to finance his education.

The Service works in the following manner:

1. The parents or student apply to the Guidance Department for a College-Finding Service Kit provided by the Educational Research Corporation;

2. The student checks a simple Specification Sheet in his kit, with his counselor, indicating the type of college and kind of education he has in mind and mails it with a small fee to the Educational Research Corporation.

This information is fed into modern, data-processing equipment that scans the facts on 2,850 schools, colleges and academic departments. In a matter of days, the student receives a "Print-Out" which indicates the specific colleges which meet his exact requirements. Then, it is a simple matter for the student to meet with the guidance counselor to decide at which of the colleges to make application. It is a tool which can save valuable time and money and Mr. Igoe earnestly recommends that any interested parents contact him at the Guidance Department of Andover High School so that the kits may be made available as soon as possible.

Open Meeting By GOP Group

The regular meeting of the Andover Republican Town Committee Thursday, Oct. 24, will be open to the public, and will be held at Peabody House at 8 p.m.

John M. Quinlan, executive director of the Council for Constitutional Reform, will be the speaker.

This newly-formed Council, which has five ex-governors as honorary co-chairmen, seeks to enlist support of the people in circulating a petition to call a Constitutional Convention in 1967 for revision of the structure of the state government.

Mr. Quinlan is an accomplished speaker, and in view of the widespread, bi-partisan enthusiasm for this project, it is hoped that many Democrats and Independents as well as Republicans will avail themselves of the opportunity to learn from him the reasons for its formation and what the members hope to accomplish.

PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Reed and three children of Glastonbury, Conn., spent the weekend visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Winston Blake, 5 Stratford rd.

BARN MAY HAVE BEEN FIRE STATION

names of customers or the cost of products.

Mr. Wakefield operated a store at two different locations - first at the corner of Main and Park sts., and later at 11 Barnard st. He also owned three carts, which covered the town selling meats and delivering orders.

The structure where he butchered the animals and stabled his horses, is the subject of a minor historical mystery this week.

It appears that the barn might have, at one time, housed the fire department. And some persons think the entire building was moved from an earlier, more-central, location onto Maple ave. This, if it occurred, would have been in the late 1800's. For records available

OLD FIRE STATION? This is the old barn at 78 Maple ave., which was slightly damaged by a fire last Sunday. Speculation has it that the structure originally housed the old fire department, on another site, although there is no concrete evidence to support the belief. The barn was used, at its present location, by J. P. Wakefield for butchering and as a stable, in the late 1800's and early 1900's. Any information on its use as a fire station prior to that time would be appreciated.

at the Memorial Hall Library indicate the barn was in its present location by 1906.

The present owner, Herbert Peck, has several reasons for believing the barn originally served as a fire station.

One small partitioned room still contains a number of coat hooks, numbered, as though used for firemen's gear.

The loft - used for hay storage during Mr. Wakefield's day - has a high, vaulted ceiling; the walls were plastered, and papered, much like a meeting room for the fire engineers and the men of their companies.

Hanging on one wall on the ground floor is an old safety belt, identified by Fire Chief Henry L. Hilton as the kind used in the old days by firemen.

But there is no record of the building being moved - if it was. Few people are old enough to remember events back around 1880; there are no clues to be found in some of the ancient town records.

According to Miss Bessie Goldsmith, the house at 78 Maple ave. was originally built by George Cole, and later was purchased by Mr. Wakefield. She recalled that butchering was a major occupation in that neighborhood. Proof of Mr. Wakefield's occupation is found in the small addition to the barn, still holding its chimney, which served as a smokehouse.

The stalls where the horses lived are now full of many odds and ends, but on the wall of one is the single word "Nell".

If any reader has information concerning the barn's possible use as a fire station, the Townsman would appreciate hearing about it.

Land Committee Viewed Sites

Thursday morning, Oct. 10, the Land Acquisition Committee assembled and members were given a conducted tour of the parcels of land being considered for acquisition for school sites and municipal facilities.

This tour was led by the town manager and the chief of the Fire Department, Henry L. Hilton.

A section of land in South Andover was viewed as a possible school site. A second section of land in West Andover, previously viewed by John N. Cole of the Land Acquisition Committee, was discussed as a possible future school site for that area.

A parcel of land at the intersection of Greenwood rd. and High Plain rd. was viewed as a possible fire station site for the West Andover area. In this same area, land adjacent to the town dump was inspected with the idea in mind of acquiring additional land for the town's combination sanitary landfill and dump burning operation.

The Committee agreed to meet Thursday morning, Oct. 24, to continue the negotiations that have been in progress in connection with these sites.

WILL SERVE IN GERMANY

Chief Warrant Officer and Mrs. George Hodgson, U.S. Air Force, recently located at the air base in Klamath Falls, Oregon, have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abbott Batchelder of Argilla rd.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Get On The Ball

From time to time, there are rumors of industrial development in West Andover's vast expanse — but somehow the rumors are never translated into action.

Despite proper zoning, and in defiance of the official town position that industry is welcome, nothing happens.

In fact, there is always the uncomfortable feeling in the background that the town does not really care about industrial growth — else why is there not more active solicitation by the town itself? Are town officials correctly interpreting the mood of the town, unspoken, but real, that industry is for other communities but not for us? Or are our municipal leaders dragging their collective heels in this area of responsibility?

Other towns — and we point particularly at Wilmington — have spent lots of administrative time and know-how in soliciting industry; their success is obvious. It is also proof that alert, aggressive officials can bring results.

A League of Women Voters survey in recent years tended to prove that the town's citizenry does want some industrial growth; but residents show no particular interest in the vacuum that exists in our zoned industrial areas. There is, in short, no obvious demand by the citizenry that town officials get busy in this direction. And we suspect that the officials won't really stir themselves, beyond lip service to the theoretical concept of industrial development, unless there is a public demand.

It is our contention that the town badly needs industry; in the next few years that need may turn into desperation.

We do not hesitate to say that an official's actions in support of industry should be a valid criteria, among others, to be used in judging whether or not his performance in office warrants continuation of his public responsibility.

It's time, in short, for our public officials to get on the ball — not just supporting, but actively seeking, solid industrial growth.

This is the only way to reduce the appalling tax burden on the homeowner, and make Andover a more attractive town in which to live.

We Commend You

This is National School Lunch Week.

In a society that has more "weeks" than the calendar's 52, it's sometimes difficult to keep up with the latest celebration of one cause or another.

But locally, there is one that stands out — National School Lunch Week.

For the public school cafeterias, under the competent leadership of Mrs. Florence McGrath, have a record of success which deserves commendation.

Financially, the cafeterias pay their own way, and also contribute greatly to the expense of equipping the kitchens and dining areas.

But most important, the lunches are properly balanced; the food is well prepared; the cost is minimum, so that all children can afford it.

We can be proud of the job Mrs. McGrath and her staff do in our own schools.

In all these countries children are being helped by the UNICEF programs.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:

"Now that the high school housing problem has been reopened and broadened in scope by William Doherty, I would like to suggest how the School Committee should present this important matter to the town.

"It is necessary to bear in mind that the high school problem differs drastically from the elementary housing problems which we have faced several times in recent years.

"For one thing, it differs in magnitude. Our elementary schools cost well under a million dollars. But the various high school estimates range between three and five million dollars!

"Secondly, the nature of the high school problem is different. Although you can build a chain of elementary schools over a period of years to serve various sections of the town, you build only one high school. That high school is a single problem, to be resolved at one time around a single plan of construction, to serve the entire town.

"Thirdly, the high school problem is complex. It is complicated because we already have a high school, because there are related housing problems at the junior high level, because we want to build to take care of future needs yet no man is clairvoyant enough to foresee, with accuracy, the needs of a rapidly changing community, because there is a limit to the willingness of present taxpayers to tax themselves now for space which could remain idle for years until filled by future residents of the town, and finally because there are two very different plans at very different costs from which to choose.

"Since the high school problem is so very different in so many ways, I believe the School Committee owes it to the public to give the voters a clear choice of plans.

"I propose three separate articles for town meeting: one for extending the present high school, one for building an entirely new structure, and one to include all optional recreational facilities. It would be the duty of the School Committee to recommend one of the building plans.

"Should the School Committee insist on submitting a single plan on a 'take it or leave it' basis, they would not only violate democratic procedure but they would also run the risk of getting no approval at all.

"One great civic advantage of leaving the final decision up to the public is that a highly educational debate should develop long before town meeting, on the advantages and disadvantages of each plan of construction. As a result, an enlightened citizenry would be in a position to make a sound decision on the biggest problem ever to face this town.

"The basic function of the School Committee is to advance public education in a democratic society. By offering the voters a clear choice of plans, the School Committee would promote adult education concerning the alternatives in a truly democratic manner.

"This choice belongs to the people."

departments, and all teachers of French. Guest of honor was Dr. Louisette Logan, research director for Harcourt, Brace & World, publishers of the ALM (Audio-Lingual Materials), written and produced under the supervision of the United States Office of Education and currently used in several classes at the Junior High.

The luncheon, French in style and substance, was served by four ninth grade boys dressed as French waiters. They were Richard Nowell, David Shuford, Robert Kefferstan and Douglas Dodd. Two ninth grade girls, Valerie Gardner and Donna Demers, helped to serve the food which has been prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Frances Drew, home economics teacher.

Entertainment was furnished by five eighth grade girls who sang several unusual and delightful French songs. Leader of the group was Beatrice Colle and her sister included Juliana Crane, Lynn Sagasar, Lynn Black and Jeanne Shea.

After luncheon, Dr. Logan held conferences with those French teachers who wished to consult about methods and materials.

At three o'clock, 50 teachers from various schools in Essex County came to hear Dr. Logan speak on the latest techniques in teaching foreign language. The group included teachers of French, Spanish, German, Italian, Russian and Latin.

Coffee and cakes, made by the graders, were served at the conclusion of the lecture and discussion. In charge of arrangements for the day's activities was Mrs. Walter Partridge, assistant principal of the Junior High School.

T. A. HOLT CO. - This old country store - featuring everything any customer desired - existed many years ago in Andover. For years, the store occupied the basement of the Baptist Church, with church and store apparently happily satisfied with the arrangement. (Continued from Page One) a.m. Thursday, Oct. 24, with a second meeting scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 31.

When he announced the plan, Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson told the School Committee that there will be time for the prospective substitute teachers to visit the schools; they will hear about local school policies and be given other vital data about the system.

The Committee has discussed beginning such a program for some time, noting that there is a continuing shortage of qualified substitutes.

Visitation Sunday At Free Church

Sunday Oct. 20, will be Visitation Day at the Free Christian Church.

Those who were not present at the Christian Enlistment Dinner, which was held Monday, Oct. 14, will be personally contacted at that time. The purpose of the visits will be to better inform Church members of the aims and purposes of the Church for the coming year, advise individuals of their own personal responsibilities to the Church and to accept pledge cards.

A Planning Conference was held at Rolling Ridge Conference Center last September, at which time heads of all organizations met to discuss their plans and recommendations for the coming year.
